

Problem Statement

Despite the availability of various trading platforms and resources, many novice investors struggle with understanding and implementing effective risk management strategies, which leads to significant financial losses and increased stress. The lack of accessible, user-friendly educational resources specifically tailored to risk management exacerbates this issue.